

THE ONE THAT GOT AWAY

Sample Only

By Hamish Mcleod

*This sample version may be distributed freely.
Full eBook available for purchase at www.shecameback.com*

The Story Begins

Well guys where do I start. When I first began writing this book, I didn't even know what was happening.

My mind was so confused it was jumping from left to right, right to left, doing triple back flips while managing to stay on the ground at the same time. Get the point! It was completely fucked.

And most of you if you're reading this book may know what I mean, it was over a girl off course.

I made a mistake, the one and major mistake that any guy can make. I dropped my guard and one of the greatest gifts ever given to me, got the better of me. Do you know what I am talking about? Emotions.

We all have them and they are absolute by far one of the greatest influences we have as humans, especially when it comes to dealing with the opposite sex.

It's important to remember that it's not the emotions themselves that messes us up, but the reaction we have to them.

To keep the story short I was out on a date and I got myself in a tricky situation. Guess what happened?

My emotions did the talking for me and completely fucked it all up. Yeah some of you right now are probably laughing but the next day I sure wasn't. It was a disaster, I felt like shit, and to top if off I was hung over.

I received an email from this chick saying that she was going back to her ex-boyfriend because he meant everything to her and she couldn't risk losing that for anything.

I sat there for hours and hours thinking how can I change this situation, how can I come back from this one?

There was no answer. I had none. So I placed everything aside, my ego, any tricks I had, and asked myself for an honest answer. Then something happened, out came the truth.

Some of the purposes of writing this book are to provide you guys with an interesting read, some possible comebacks for tricky situations and also hopefully an added perspective on how we look at life.

This book is structured by providing 30 tricky situations we can commonly find ourselves in as guys. Many are real and some are made-up followed by creative, unique possible comebacks and reasons as to why these are good.

It's important to note here that I am not intending that you go out and use these exact scripts, it's to give you an idea, a guideline only.

Some of them you will like, some of them you won't. If it doesn't feel right and honest to you and your situation, then don't use it.

Take out parts, modify the words, whatever you like to suit your personality, just have fun with it. Don't take it too seriously and most of all don't lose yourself in it.

Scenarios include:

1. Girl has boyfriend for several years and they break up for a short time. You go out on a date and pour your heart out stuffing it up.
2. Girl has boyfriend for several years. They go on a break and she sees you for several months and then goes back to her boyfriend.
3. You're on your first date, you don't know what to say and things are getting awkward.
4. You have just started seeing a girl and she finds out your ex-girlfriend was a model and super hot. She starts questioning you in regards to whether you have feelings for her or not.
5. It's Valentines Day or some other special day, she buys you a gift and you have nothing for her.
6. You have just started seeing a girl and you have gone on several dates, though you're not sure if you like her or not. She starts pouncing on you on where the relationship is heading.
7. You went out and picked up a girl at a night club, a one night stand. The next day she is cold, leaves early and doesn't return your calls.
8. You go out with a girl on a date. You're on your way home she tells you that she has emotional baggage and isn't looking for anything.
9. You ask a girl for street directions telling her you're from out of town, which you are not. You ask her for couple of drinks and end up having sex with her. A month later you run into her and she finds out the truth.
10. You get drunk one night and ring up a girl you have just started seeing. She doesn't pick up her phone and in a desperate state you message her telling her you love her.
11. You pick up a girl in a night club and you take her back to your house. You're lying in bed next to her and she starts talking about her ex boyfriend.

12. You're trying to pick up a girl at a bar and she accuses you of being a player.
13. You have been emailing a girl for a couple of years and end up getting a date only to totally fuck things up.
14. You're trying to pick up a girl at the bar and you don't know what else to say other than hi.
15. You have just started going out with a girl and your ex-girlfriend comes back into town for the weekend. You break up with your current girl friend and sleep with your ex. The following day you realise you made a mistake and want your previous girlfriend back.
16. You're at a party and your girlfriend is out the back. You're in the living room with a girl lying on top of you and dudes come in and catch you out. They go outside and tell your girlfriend.
17. You like two girls that work at the same shop. One started working there before the other and you had been out with her but she was way too young. Now you want to ask the other but don't know how.
18. You have been with a girl for years and years almost long enough to get married. She decides to break up with you because she feels like she has already spent part of her life with you.
19. You have just started seeing a girl and her parents are upper class snobs. They don't think you are good enough and are trying to break the two of you up.
20. You are going out with a girl and her friends hate you. She's going to break up with you if you can't get along with the friends.
21. You're walking down the street holding a girls hand while you actually have a girlfriend. Your girlfriend's father walks past and sees you both together.
22. You're out in a club trying to pick up a girl and one of her friends come over and has a go at you for no reason. She tells you to fuck off because she has a boyfriend.
23. You cheat on your girlfriend and she finds out.

24. You have been going out with a girl for ages and she decides to dump you for another guy.
25. You have been going out with a girl for a few months. You have had a drug habit problem in the past. She finds out about it and doesn't know if she can be with you anymore.
26. You have liked a girl in a shop for over two years though you have never asked her out. You feel like it's too late.
27. You have finally managed to get a date with a girl you have liked for ages. She has had a boyfriend with whom she has shared a long history in the past and they break up for a short period of time. You believe this is your one and only chance to start something with her before someone better comes along, so you try to make the most of it. You get back to her place only to stuff things up.
28. You have been going out with a girl for six months. You text your ex-girlfriend telling her you love her, then your current girl friend goes through your phone and finds out.
29. You have been with a girl for years but you really like someone else, you just don't know how to get out of the current situation. One night you go out and end up kissing the girl you really do like. She turns around to tell you the next day that she can't be with you because you have a girlfriend.
30. You start seeing a girl but you only get one date with her. The next day she doesn't want to talk to you or write back to your messages. This same event repeats itself about twice a year for three to four years in a row. She is playing head games with you.

Outline Of Scenario 18.

You have been with a girl for years and years. Almost long enough to get married. She has decided to break up with you to go 'find herself'. She feels like she has already spent part of her life with you and its time for her to move on.

The solution I have provided is one to be read as an interesting read only. It's written from a creative perspective view so please just remember that. It is however close to some of the best things written in this book. It is so good that I almost didn't provide it because of personal reasons.

I also would like to note here that I myself have never had a girl say this to me and although I have been in several long relationships I have not been ready for marriage at any time. I have made this scenario up and I have made the solution up.

Some aspects of this solution have come from real parts of my life and others through my imagination.

So take this on board and if you are in this situation I definitely wouldn't use it as it's come from me. Not you. Whatever you come up with or whatever you do, if it feels right for you than it will be much better than anything I could ever provide you. If you're in this position trust your own instincts and honesty.

Just read and hope you enjoy.

Comeback Response. Scenario 18.

Here it is :

“You know there’s something I have never told you or anyone for that matter. Years and years ago I went through a stage in my life where I would constantly ask myself stupid questions. Not just the ordinary questions but questions sometimes that were way out of wack. Like they didn’t even make sense to me like. For instance I would be driving along and I might see a tree and wonder does that tree over there ever get sad? I might see a star and wonder does that star in the sky have its own name? Then I might see the clouds and wonder will they still be in the same position when I wake up tomorrow morning? Really stupid shit like that but then at times there were other questions. Like will I ever get married and will she be blonde or brunette? What will she look like when she’s walking down the aisle? I would never repeat this shit to anyone because it sounds so you know stupid, but when I am in a situation like this what the fuck can I do. Only accept what was and what is. (start laughing). I guess there’s a question I haven’t asked before and that is what is it like to love someone who doesn’t love you back? Can one maintain love with no expectation of love in return? I doubt it. Whatever they call it unconditional love or some thing like that, well, I guess I am going to find out. “

Get up and leave.

Why This Is Good. Scenario18.

This is probably one of the best things you can say to someone in this situation. You are accepting her choice while presenting concepts to her that she would have thought about as a little child and you too may have thought about as a child.

Girls dream of the day they are going to get married. You are presenting her with ideas of her possibly walking down the aisle and creating excitement. At the same time you are presenting her with possible concepts that you may be walking down the aisle one day with someone else. It creates a sense of loss at the exact time and gives her a lot to walk away and think about.

There is no way anyone else would have said something like this to her before. The beginning of it all sounds a little twisted but it perfectly links in with unanswered questions and possibilities that we may never know.

For instance wondering if a tree ever gets sad could indicate anything. Does that star in the sky have its own name could indicate anything to do with uniqueness, love, romance, sense of loss as there's many stars in the sky. Are you her star? Is she your star?

Will the clouds still be there in the same position in the morning when you wake up creates a sense of loss as well. What will it be like to wake up in an empty bed or what will it be like to roll over half way through the night only to notice she's not there anymore?

As for the sun and the clouds, they are things in nature that were put there and hopefully will always exist but their positions can change as things are changing between the two of you now.

There are some really romantic concepts in this whole solution. It really depends on how deep she wants to dig into this whole thing. I think myself its brilliant regardless of whether or not she walks away only taking a few of the points from it. It's enough to really get her thinking about what she is doing.

The last part of this is something to reflect on. It brings up questions as to whether you will still love her when you break up. It also shows her that she may lose you forever as most people can only love someone when there's an expectation in return. That expectation is for them to love you back. I have an idea possibly that is not real love.

Real love the best I can grasp or at least try at this time is one that involves something unconditional.

Real love is one in which you can manage to walk away and still love her regardless of her choice. If this is true for you many years later down the track if she is single and you're single and you still feel for her, maybe you could tell her this.

Again this is just for an interesting read and a guideline.

Outline Of Scenario 12.

You meet a girl out and you try talking to her. She immediately snaps you and accuses you of been a player.

Whatever you do don't try and deny it. Don't tell her that she's attractive and don't offer to buy her a drink.

By the way the only girl I have ever bought a drink for is my girlfriend or a mate that's a girl. Call me an arse or whatever but I don't think you should have to buy a girl a drink just to talk to her.

Comeback Response. Scenario12.

Say something along the lines of the following but do it in a nice way. Don't be an arsehole about it, just do it as if you are being a funny bastard who really doesn't care about the outcome.

"Yeah, yeah, yeah I am a big player, thanks for pointing that out to me. I will go home and write it down so I don't forget. (Be a complete smartarse) No I am serious, shit it must be tough being a girl especially if every guy in here is just out to play you. "

"I don't even know how you do it. You dress yourself up, chuck on your makeup and come out looking beautiful for what? To walk back to your friends and tell them that you turned down the only guy in here that you never had to begin with."

"Seriously pat yourself on the shoulder, you're my new hero. "

Why This Is Good. Scenario 12.

This is good because it's funny as fuck. It adds entertainment to your night and that's what you went out for in the beginning anyway wasn't it? Just make sure it's done in a playful, cheeky way and without bitterness.

Who knows? Depending on the girl it might intrigue her, she might think you're a loser, she might start wanting you or she might walk away with the shits. Who knows? She might even turn around and kiss you.

Who cares anyway!!! This is fucking funny. You might be surprised to find out what happens after this.